Edward Hillman, Chicago Merchant, Thinks Parents Are Responsible.

BELIEVES GIRLS CAN LIVE ON $8 A WEEK

HICAGO, ILL, March 8 .- "Do you think that a woman would sell her virtue before she would asked Lieut, Gov. Barrett O'Hara, chairman of the vice commission, of Edward Hillman, owner of one of the largest department stores in Chicago.

"Yes, I do," came the prompt answer, the first of the kind from employers thus far heard.

"Thank you," said O'Hara, apparently surprised at the admission.

Hillman said that $17 girls and women are employed at his store. Of these 46 girls receive $5, 24 get $4, 23 earn $2.56 and six receive $7. These last are errand girls mostly brought in by their parents who want them to learn the business so they may advance to higher salaries, he said.

Thinks Parents Responsible.

Thinks Parents Responsible. "If one of your $2 girls lost her virtue would it hurt your conscience?" asked O'Hara.

"Yes, certainly."
"Would you hold yourself responseble" "Well, now, let's think; would 1?
"Well, now, let's think; would 1?
Here's a girl brought by her parents, living at home—should I be responsible? I think not. I think the parents would be responsible."

Ready to Aid Legislators.

Beadiness of the big merchant to agree with the commission surprised and delighted the legislators. For in-stance, O'Harra asked it it had ever occurred to him to investigate applications for positions to ascertain whether the applicant could live on the salary in prospect. It had never occurred to him, but, said he, "It's a good idea." "Mr. Hillman, will you promise this commission to hire such an investiga-tor."

commission to hire such an investigator?"

"Tes certainly; giad to; it's a good idea" and the stocky witness nodded his iron gray head emphatically.

Cam't Get Frivolous on $8.

Asked what he thought a girl could support herself on independently Hillman said $8 or $9 a week. "I could live on $12 myself, yes; I could squeeze through on $10 I think" he added.

"So $8 or $9 would sustain a girl in Chicago, but it wouldn't leave much for the 'movies' and soda, would it?" observed senator Juul.

"No, guess you can't get frivolous on that," hughed Hillman.

Representative Lloyd Informed the witness that the report of the Chicago vice commission showed that many department store girls lead lives of shame.

This was news to Hillman who denied any such condition in his store. Baise Wages of Juveniles.

The work of the vice commission bore fruit today, when a letter was received by chairman Barrett O'Hara from E. F. Mandel, president of Mandel Brothers, stating that he had mised the minimum wage of juveniles to M. The juveniles are girls between the ages of 12 and 15 years who are employed on small errands.

Stories of Lives in Inderworld.

Women of the tenderloin, who were called as witnesses, talked in whispers. All said they had been unable to make a living at reputable callings. "A. R." was a woman of 38, who worked in a faundry at $5.00 per week after her husband died and left her with two children.

with two children.
"You couldn't support a family on that, could you?" inquired Heutenant governor O'Hara.
"No: I found out that I couldn't even support myself on it, so I went wrong."
"How old were you then?"
"Twenty-eight."
"Where are the children now?" she was asked.

"Well, you may be sure they are not in Chicago." in Chicago, "R. M." worked for $2.00 a week, but her parents seemed dissatisfied with her contributions to the general fund only piece of jeweiry about her.

"Married?" asked O'Hara. "Married" asked Orinta.
The girl looked at the ring, hesitated and then answered, "No; it belonged to my mother. It's the only thing of her's I have."
Drudgery as a Domestic.

Those close enough to hear the tes-timony were reminded of E. F. Man-del's testimony "that if a girl is starv-ing and immorality is repugnant as ing and immorality is repugnant, as it should be, she can go into domestic service" when "J. H." took the stand.
"Why did you go wrong?" asked senator Juul, "too little money?"
"Well, yes, that was it."
"What did you work at before that?"
"Themestic servant."

"What did you work at before that?"
"Domestic servant."
"What were you paid?"
"Two fifty. I got up at 5 o'clock in the morning and worked until through, generally about 8 o'clock at night. I had enough to eat, but I didn't want to work so hard. I got to running around with fellows, and I would want to be decent, and then I would go have and back but it was too head." back and back, but it was too hard.

Britain Is Offered to Former Secretary of State.

WILL NOT LOWER THE CIVIL SERVICE BARS

ASHINGTON, D. C. March &-President Wilson has offered to Richard Olney, of Boston secretary of state in president Cleveland's cabinet, the post of ambassa dor to Great Britain. It is not known whether Mr. Olney will accept and it was said today that the matter had not gone so far as the sounding of the court of St. James as to Mr. Olney's acceptability.

President Wilson today finally decided that he would not be accompanied in pubic by uniformed aides. The lation will be with him only on state occasions at the white house or at army or navy functions. The president is not fond of ceremony or quasi regal appearance. There are 12 aides at the white house now, but the number probably will be greatly reduced.

Civil Service Bars Still Up.

The president let it be known today there was no immediate prospect of letting down the civil service bars to thousands of Democratic office seekers. The president told senator Pomerene, that so far he and the cabinet had formulated no policy as to appointments for minor positions in the government service. Disapproves of Military Aldes.

The president has endorsed the policy of Democratic economy favored by chairman Fitzgerald of the house apchairman Fitzgerald of the house appropriations committee.

His attention was called to the need of the passage of the sundry civil appropriation at the special session. This bill was vetoed by former president Tatt because of its provision practically exempting labor unions and farmers' organizations from prosecution under the Sherman anti-trust law. Friends familiar with the president's attitude toward kindred questions declared that unless it could be shown that the paragraph to which the former president objected was not "class legislation," he would use his influence to prevent such a provision being inserted into the bill.

Chas. P. Neill is Resominated.

Announcement of three important announcements has been made. Chas. P. Neill, who was commissioner of labor under presidents Roosevelt and Taft, was nominated as commissioner of the bursau of labor statistics which will take the place of the old labor bursau in compliance with the act creating the new department of labor. Mr. Neill was renominated as commissioner of labor by president Taft several months ago but he failed of confirmation and under the law has been out of office since February I.

Daniel C. Roper, of North Carolias, was nominated to be first assistant postmaster general.

James I. Blakesier, gecretary of the Pennsylvania state Democrafic commissioner will be made third northwaster.

Appropriations Made.

EXTRA SESSION IS CONSIDERED SURE

S ANTA FE, N. M., March 8.—The Reterday afternoon made an unsuccessful attempt to pass the county saiary bill over the veto of the governor. The vote followed a caucus. It was said enough votes were pledged to override the veto. However, when the vote was taken, It resulted in 27 votes for to 19 against over-riding the veto, the Democrats standing by governor McDonald, reinforced by three "Progressives" and one Republican, Christman.

This vote is believed to preclude all chance for passing a salary bill at this session, adjournment being but five days away. An extra session is expected to follow immediately.

Both houses of the legislature are this afternoon occupied with routine passage of bills. A new salary bill may be drawn in an effort to secure action, Otherwise there will be no salary bill at this session. The governor has not yet indicated whether or not he will apments for minor positions in the government service.
